

Truro Railway Station in Miniature

David Teagle turns his attention from agriculture machinery as he sets out to re-create Truro Railway Station in the 1950s

“This is still very much work in progress, I am two years into a ten year plan.”

David Teagle
Finance Director

Teagle
Teagle Machinery Ltd

The evocative “Black Bridge” where train spotters were regularly enveloped in smoke

The goods yard has artistic licence, being on the other side of the tracks

More photographs promised as work progresses