

Cornish Crosses - Understanding the evidence with Andrew Langdon
C3528505

In Cornwall there are over six hundred medieval stone crosses and fragments from the late ninth century through to the Reformation. This course will introduce these iconic and rustic monuments. Their age, original function, decoration and context will be explored, along with their geographic and decorative groups. The course will identify the many types of Cornish cross including, churchyard, wayside and boundary crosses together with their related sculpture. In addition, decoration such as scrollwork, crucifix figures, interlace and key patterns will be discussed. Repair, restoration, protection and access to these stone crosses will also be considered.
No session 24 Oct 17

Tuesday 3 Oct - 21 Nov 2017 19:00 - 21:00 7 sessions
£52.00 (free if on qualifying means tested benefit)
County Hall, Treyew Road, Truro, Cornwall, TR1 3AY

enrolonline.wea.org.uk

 0300 303 3464

(8.00 am to 8.00pm, Monday to Friday and 8.00am to 1.00pm Saturdays local rate).

